"ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES"

On that memorable September morning of 1938, at least six fond Mothers tearfully deposited their small off-spring at the door of the Kindergarten room of Johnston School. Norma, Margaret, Laurence, Ruth, Nancy, Sally, Dick and Bob H. adjusted themselves readily to Kindergarten, and under Miss Pilmer's guidance built their grocery store, played in the doll house, and took naps on their little rugs so faithfully, that at the end of the year they were promoted to first grade.

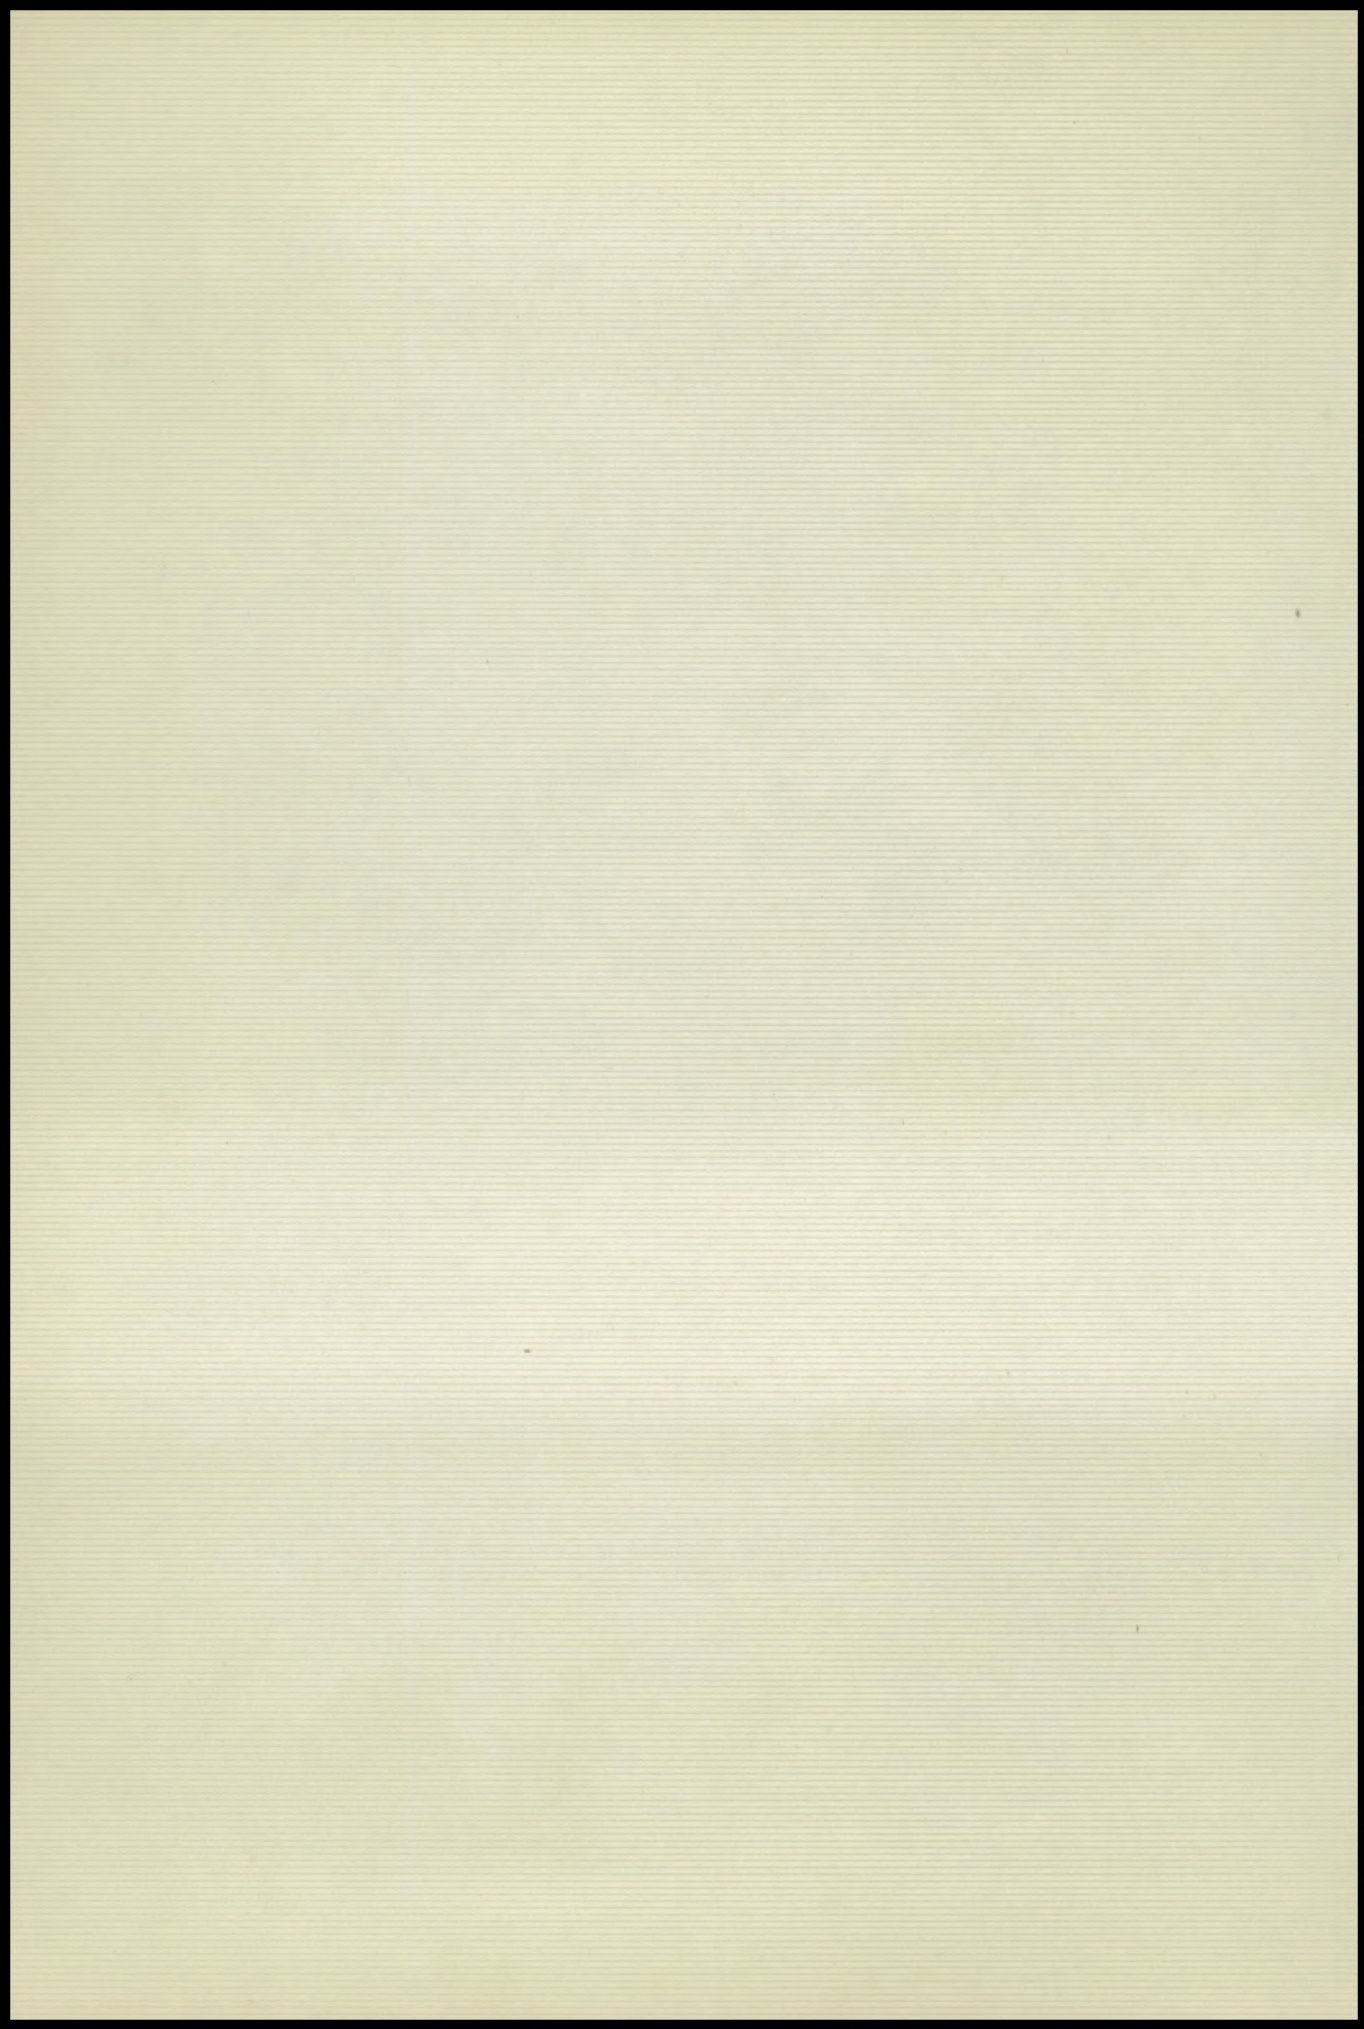

First grade--Margaret beamed when she saw pretty Miss George, and resolved to get rid of her bad habits. First-graders joined with the second-graders and took first place in the rhythm band.

Second grade--Finally the burden of our class was shifted to Miss Fitzsimmon's shoulders. By this time we could all read comic books. To add to the class, a little cherub joined up--Betty Olsasky. It was our class that started the chain stores of A & P. They started from our small store in the second grade.

Third grade--Now we really climbed the ladder--we had reached second floor. Miss Lang thought she taught us our multiplication table. Mrs. Varner disillusioned us shortly after we enrolled for Business Arithmetic.

Fourth grade--Nancy Hummel couldn't resist our class so she returned to help us make Miss Douglas happy. We also picked up Shirley D., Gene, and Marvin. Betty felt she needed a rest from this class so she left us for a while.

Fifth grade--Bob L. and Shirley O. joined our fighting forces. Betty also rejoined us. Instead of flying saucers being popular with the boys, flying paper wads were more popular. This soon ended with a punishment of filling quart jars with chewing wads. While the boys were busy filling their quart jars, the girls made castles. It was Larry who helped us put over our Mexican Festival by bringing sombreros and Mexican clothing.

Sixth grade--It's a bird! It's a plane! What is it?? Oh! Dorothy C. and Richard H. arriving. Sallie Stirts returned because she found life too dull at Urbandale, without us. Dick D. started Dorothy's day out right with one of his mad kisses. Our class put on a program for the P.-T.A. The boys had a stilt march and the girls jumped rope to the rhythm of the music.

Our Junior high teachers were Mrs. Ballou and Mrs. Dowling. We increased our knowledge by having "Spell-downs" and Arithmetic Contests. It was in the Eighth Grade that we re-fought the Civil War--Johnstonians vs. Dogpatchers led by Norma Bianchi (Runny Meringue). Norma clubbed an innocent Johnstonian bystander (Dick D. was the guilty offender). But of course, the Dogpatch team won. We also won the magazine contest in Eighth Grade, and the Seventh Grade had to treat us.

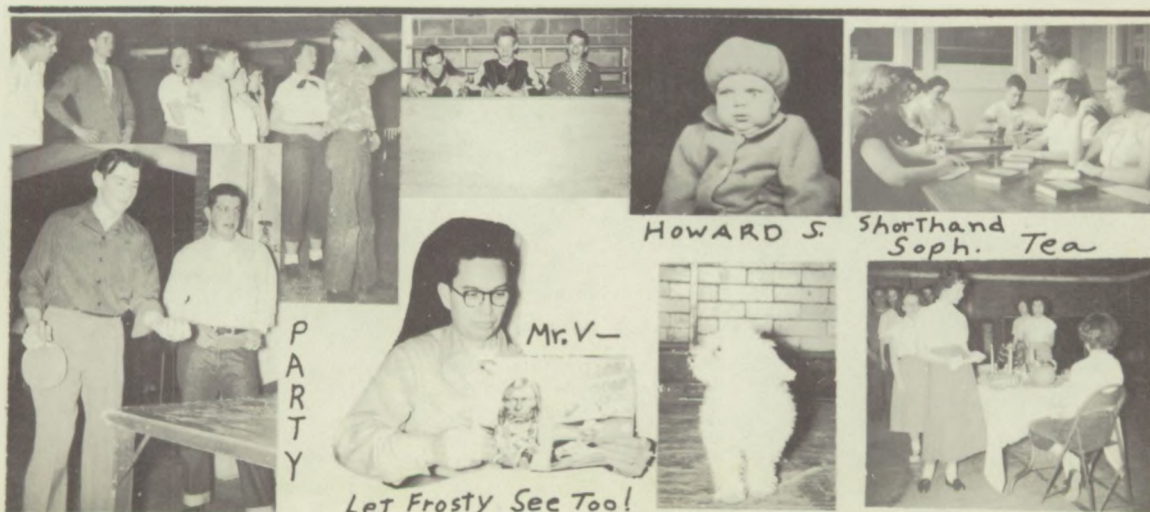

Ninth grade--Forced to leave our Civil War weapons behind, we crawled into the assembly. We were badly in need of help so Dorothy M., Gladys B., Walter R., Jim A., and Howard S. joined our regiment. Initiation time rolled around and did we suffer! The boys had war paint on their faces, their pants rolled above their knees, tee-shirts with bow ties, plow shoes, and no socks. The girls wore high heels, anklets, old skirts, blouses, no make-up, and their hair in braids. Mr. and Mrs. Varner, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Sproul, and Mr. Schuler were our teachers.

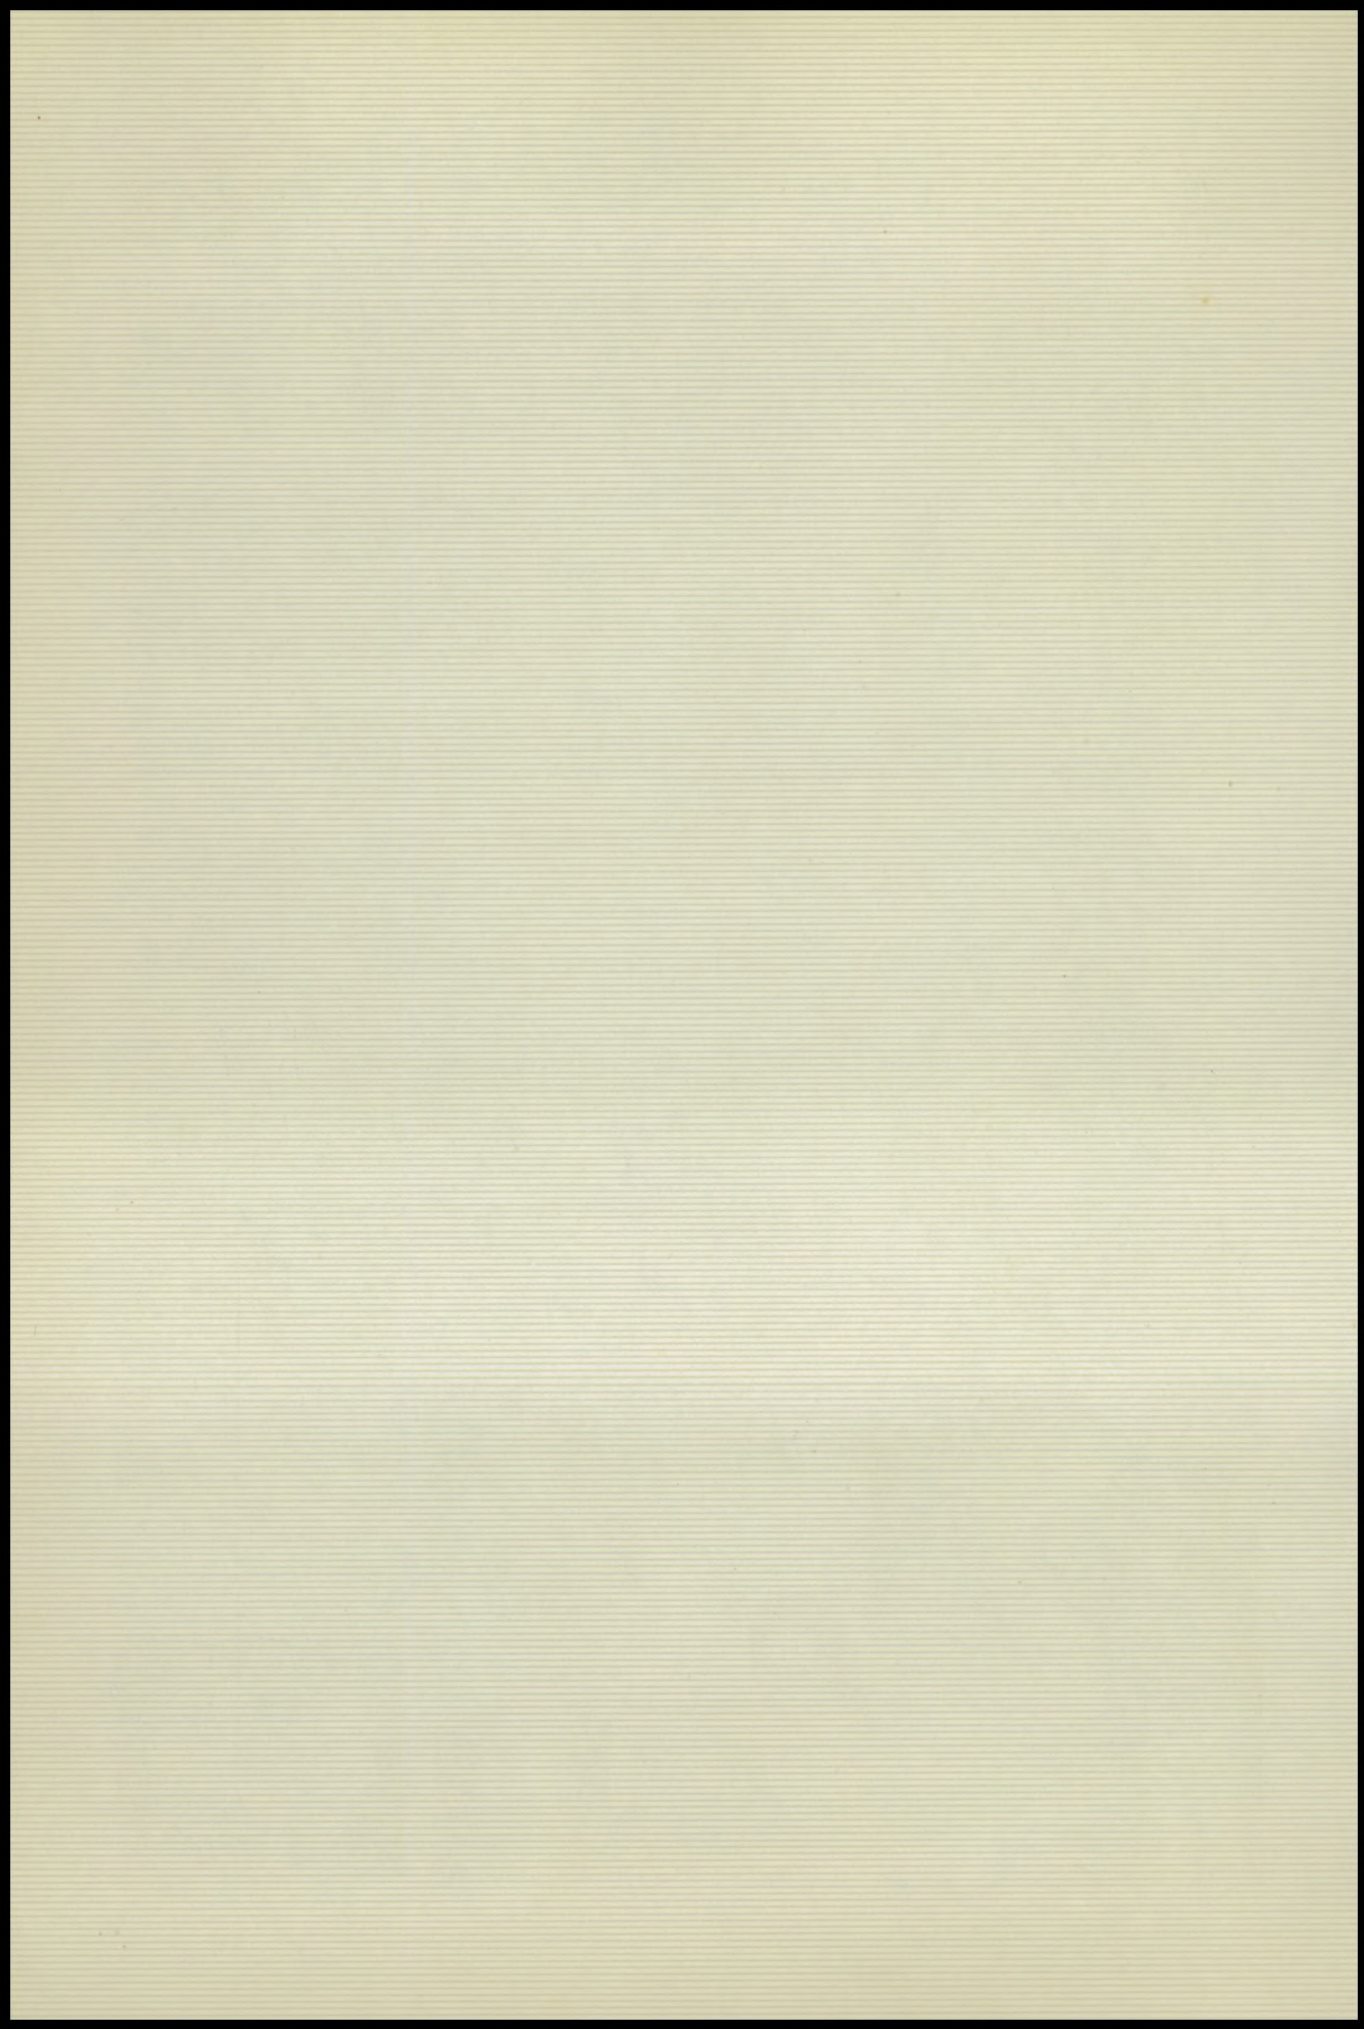

Tenth grade--This was a pretty peaceful year for the teachers. We were all on our best behavior. Why? We don't know. After failing our mission of destroying the school last year, we decided to put it off until our Senior year.

Eleventh grade--We sent for reinforcements, but all we got was Jim G.! Naturally being Juniors, we put on a Junior play called "We Shook The Family Tree." This big headache fell upon Mr. Howards. It made a big hit on Johnston Avenue. After the play the class decided to go to the show at Highland Park. On the way certain members of the class got a ticket for speeding. For the Junior and Senior Banquet we shed our country rags and dressed up like city-slickers.

Twelfth grade--Ah! Look, kids, we made it! If you don't believe us, we'll show you the bills for our pictures and rings. We really hit the jackpot at Home-coming this year. Besides our Shirley Danielson being crowned Queen of festivities, Norma Bianchi was a Princess, so we were pretty proud of our girls. Then our Pep leaders being all Seniors, Norma, Ruth, and Rich, who had done us all proud, had to break in some under classmen to that job.

We're almost to the end of the line. A few short weeks of classes, a class-play make the 1951 class remembered, and the formalities of graduation will be upon us, all too soon. Mr. Varner who has been our true friend and guide--lo, these four years--will say, "This is as far as you go. Now get out! We need your room." Do we see a tear in his eye or are those tears in ours as we wave Johnston High a last "good-bye."

CLASS PROPHECY

From near and far the class of 1951 is gathering for its reunion with Mr. Howards. You have all heard of Mr. Howards, the great oil tycoon. We vowed that we would return to the scene of our crimes in ten years' time, so here we are.

Here we have a celebrity--our newly-elected king of the hobos! Dick Dunn. At this moment he is talking to Norma Bianchi, who is blowing plastic bubbles at the dime store. In her spare time she writes detective stories for the "Scream Magazine." Her old side-kick, Ruth Hesseltime, just arrived from Arizona where she is the world's champion bronc rider and calf roper.

Bob Leonard now owns the famous gambling Casino at Monte Carlo, where you can see him every night behind the roulette wheel, sideburns and all--"Stickie-fingers Bob" they call him. Marv Boston now owns Thrift Way, Inc., where he gives away a package of gum when his customers have been faithful for ten years. We just received ours!

Here comes Shirley Orr who has gained no little fame by having quintuplets, the first quint since the Dionnes. Dort Crowell is now the manager of the Globe Trotters, and a very successful team it is.

Jim Gilligan is the head garbage collector for Washington C. C., and believe me, there is a large amount of garbage. He also delivers special letters for the White House. and look who's in the White House! It's Betty Olsasky, the first woman president of the United States. And naturally her chief of Staff is none other than our own General Robert Harvey who saved the world from World War III, when he took General McArthur's place in Korea. Also, we all admire Betty greatly for the way she handled Russia--marrying Joe Stalin was a stroke of genius.

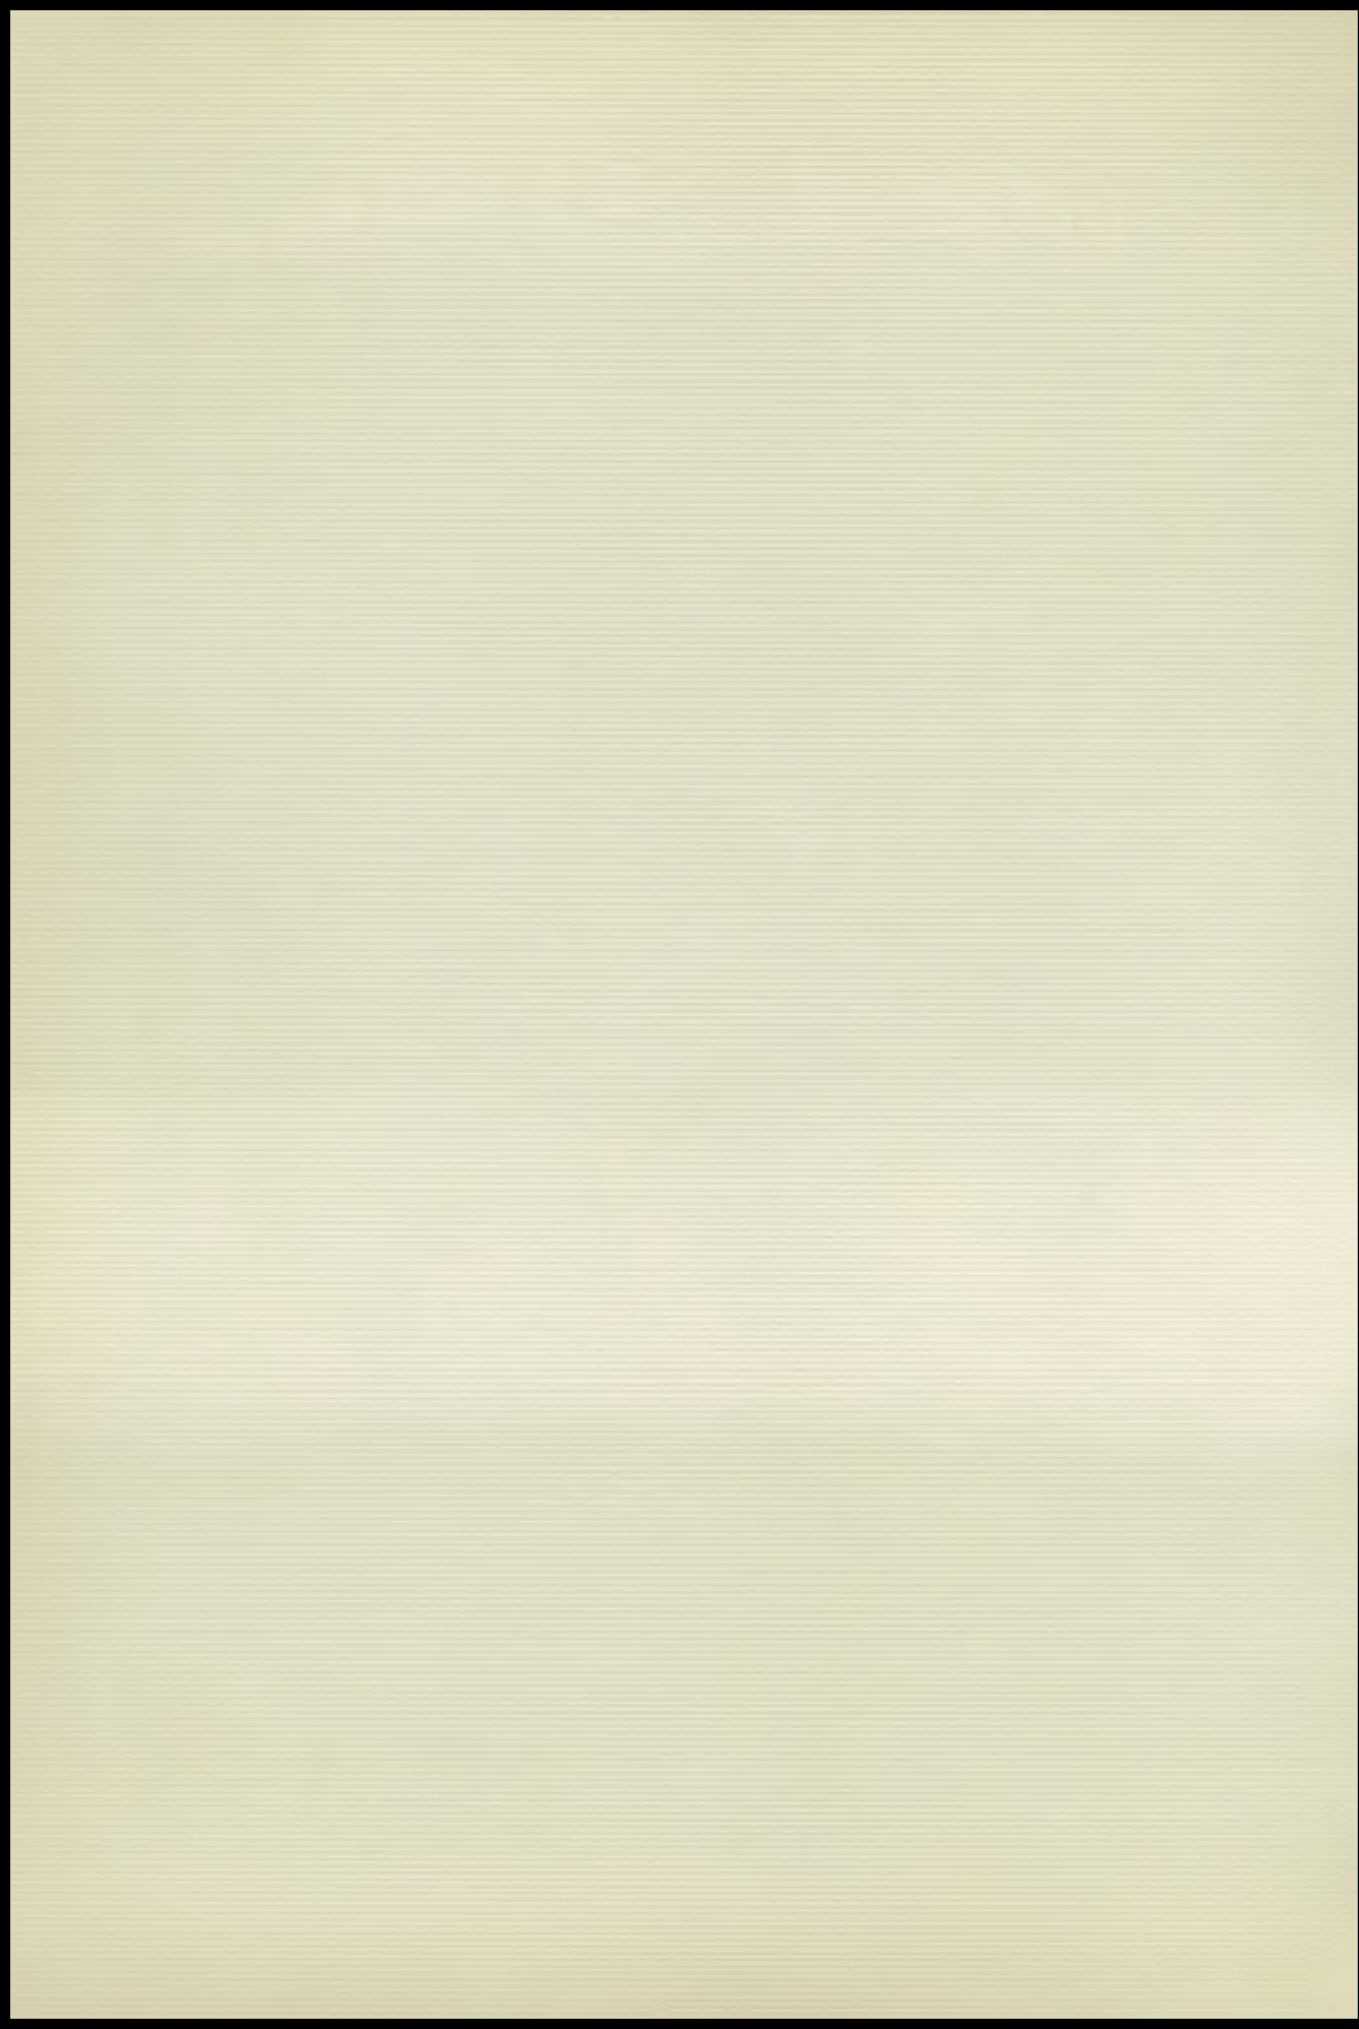

Well, if here isn't "Bugs" Baker (Larry) who took over Mickie Cohen's place as Lord of the Underworld. You remember that Police Chief Anderson shot Mickie when he tried to escape from jail. Jim got his basic training in Mr. Smith's Government class. We had a hard time getting Howard Stifel to say he would come; he didn't think it was proper to be seen at the reunion since he was the President of Alcoholics Anonymous--this he considers a high honor. We expect Walter Robinette here if he can get away from his many fans. He is the leading crooner of the nation.

The fried chickens for this celebration were donated by Gladys Boyer from her huge chicken ranch in western Wyoming. In her spare time she colors Easter eggs. Look who's coming in now! See the long curls and velvet robe--Gorgeous Gene Tasler, no less. We are told he makes millions wrestling on television, and, of course, his manager is with him. Believe me, his manager has taught him all he knows--His manager? Why, Dot Mosier, his wife, naturally.

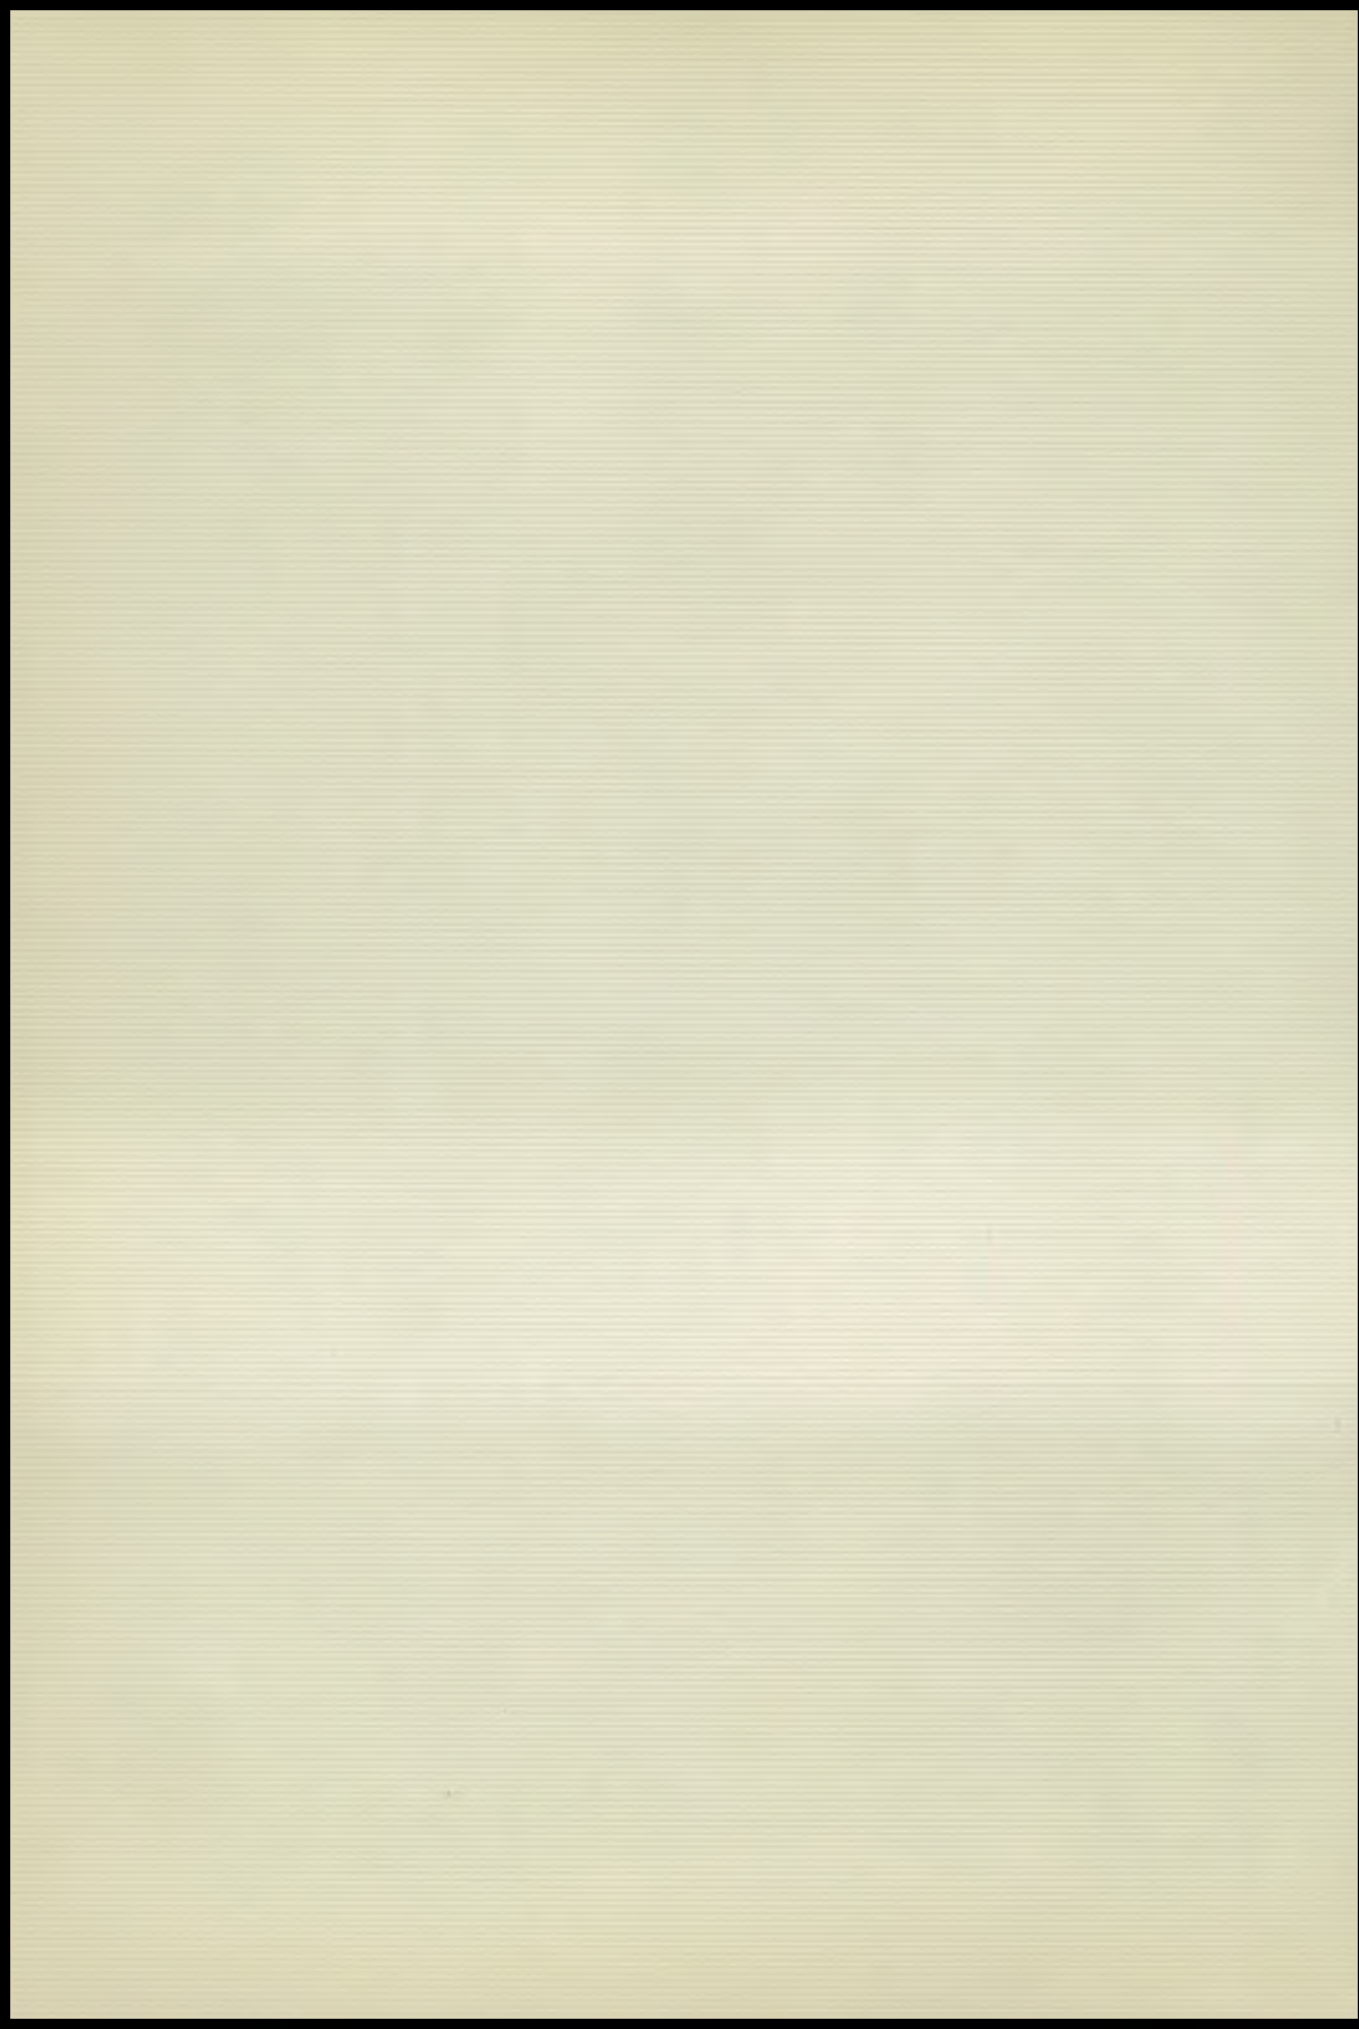

Alda Strieff is perhaps the most dignified of our alumni. She runs a home for homeless dogs and cats in Paris. And our friend, Richard Howley, is here, too. Of course you saw his picture in Look Magazine when he took over the presidency of Sweetheart Soap Company. They say he's really cleaning up!

Margaret Foshe has been here waiting for us for quite some time. You knew that she took Mrs. Varner's place teaching Shorthand. She really is terrific. Shirley Danielson has made quite a business flying mountain goats from Calcutta, India to Moscow. Phe-e-ew!!! here she comes now. Oh yes, here's our friend, Sallie Stirts. She, too, is quite a celebrity. Perhaps You've read her column in the New York Times--Sallie's Advice to the Men. and last, our construction engineer, Nancy Hummel. She specializes in bridge construction. The sign on her door reads, Painless Hummel. Teeth extracted on terms. See Hummel, the Humane, today.

Well, all are here, and gathered around the table with their old-time enthusiasm, so we had better make an end to this or there won't be any fried chicken left. DM----SS

CLASS WILL

WE, THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1951, JOHNSTON CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL, POLK COUNTY IOWA, MAKE THE FOLLOWING AS OUR LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Seniors have no further use for our superior qualities and achievements, which we received in our long struggle through school, here at Johnston. Therefore we will these qualities and achievements to the students who follow in our footsteps, on condition that they cherish them always and use them to the best of their ability.

Jim Gilligan leaves his bashfulness to Floyd Brown.

Bob Harvey will his soothing voice to Jerry Zarley.

Shirley Orr leaves her ability to catch a man to her sister Pat.

Dorothy Crowell leaves her temper to Pauline Gilligan.

Marvin Boston wills his ability to drive a car with one hand to B. Thornburg.

Betty Olsasky leaves her marked books and anything that is left after she leaves to Mildred Brown.

Jim Anderson bestows his height and enduring love for English teachers upon Dave Schuessler.

Norma Bianchi leaves her corny, petrified jokes to Janet White.

Ruth Hesseltine will her excess poundage, recently lost, to Carol Inman.

Howard Stifel bequeaths his basketball ability to Donella Crowell.

Gladys Boyer leaves her love for taking 120 words a minute in shorthand to any misguided student ready and willing to do and die.

Larry Baker wills his ambition to be a doctor of fine poultry to Fred Smith.

Sallie Stirts doesn't want to leave anything, she just wants to leave.

Shirley Danielson bestows her band music upon Joan Sherman.

Nancy Hummel bequeaths her photographic mind to Victor Fiebig.

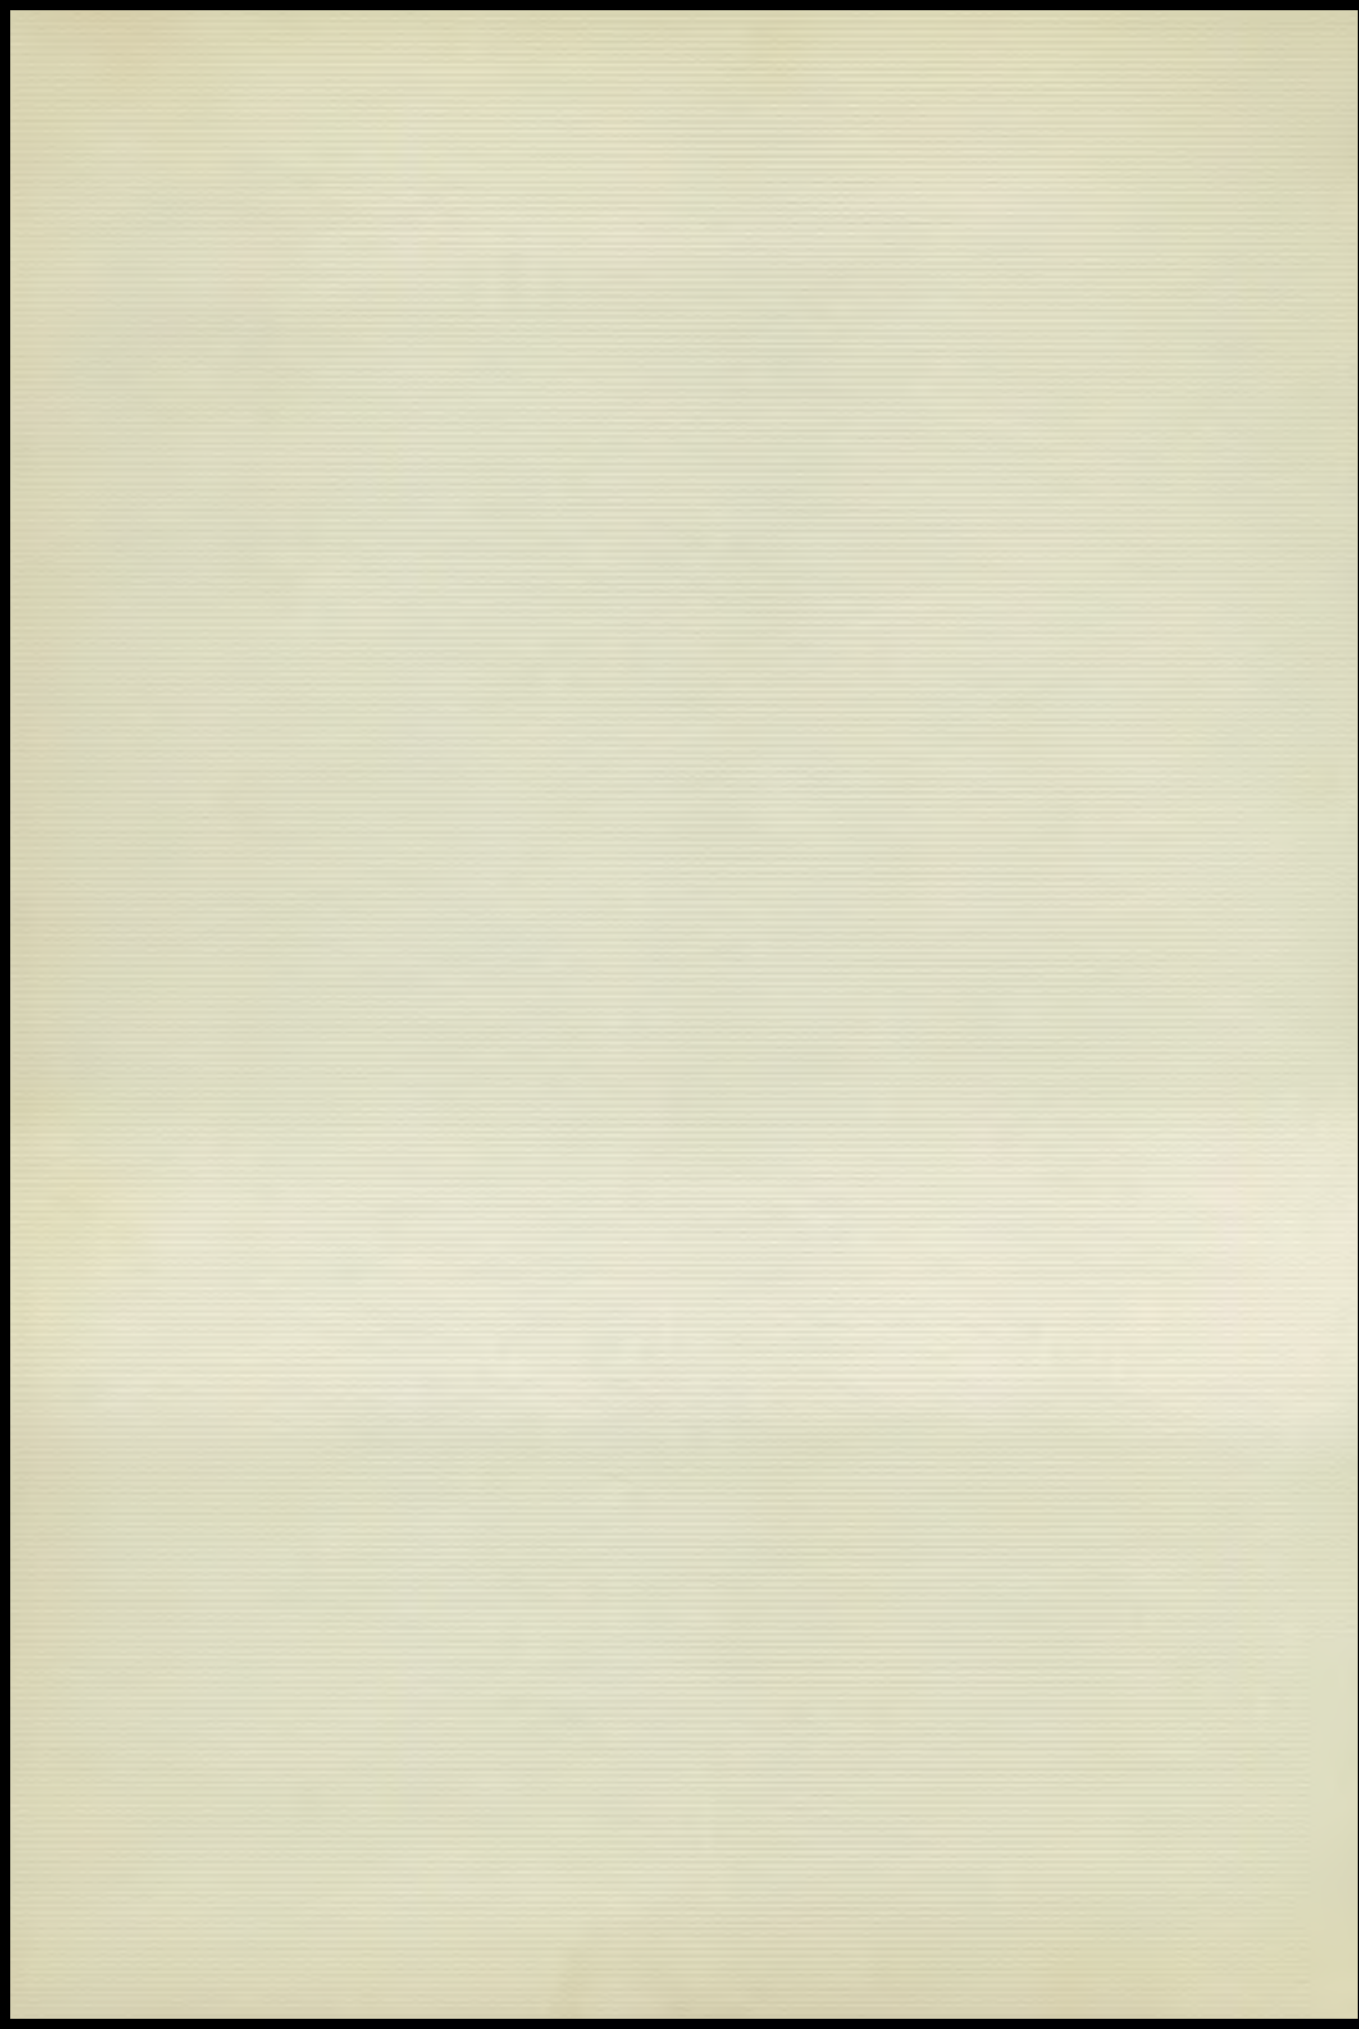

Dick Dunn leaves his collection of fountain pens and pencil stubs to next year's bookkeeping class.

Margaret Foshe wills her muscles and strength (?) to Mr. Varner.

Dorothy Mosier gladly leaves her freckles to Dick Rock.

Richard Howley wills his technique of telling off the girls to Jerry Clark.

Gene Tasler bequeaths his ability to rate with the girls from both Johnston and Urbandale, to his brother Roger.

Bob Leonard leaves his church key and poker-playing to Jimmy Leonard.

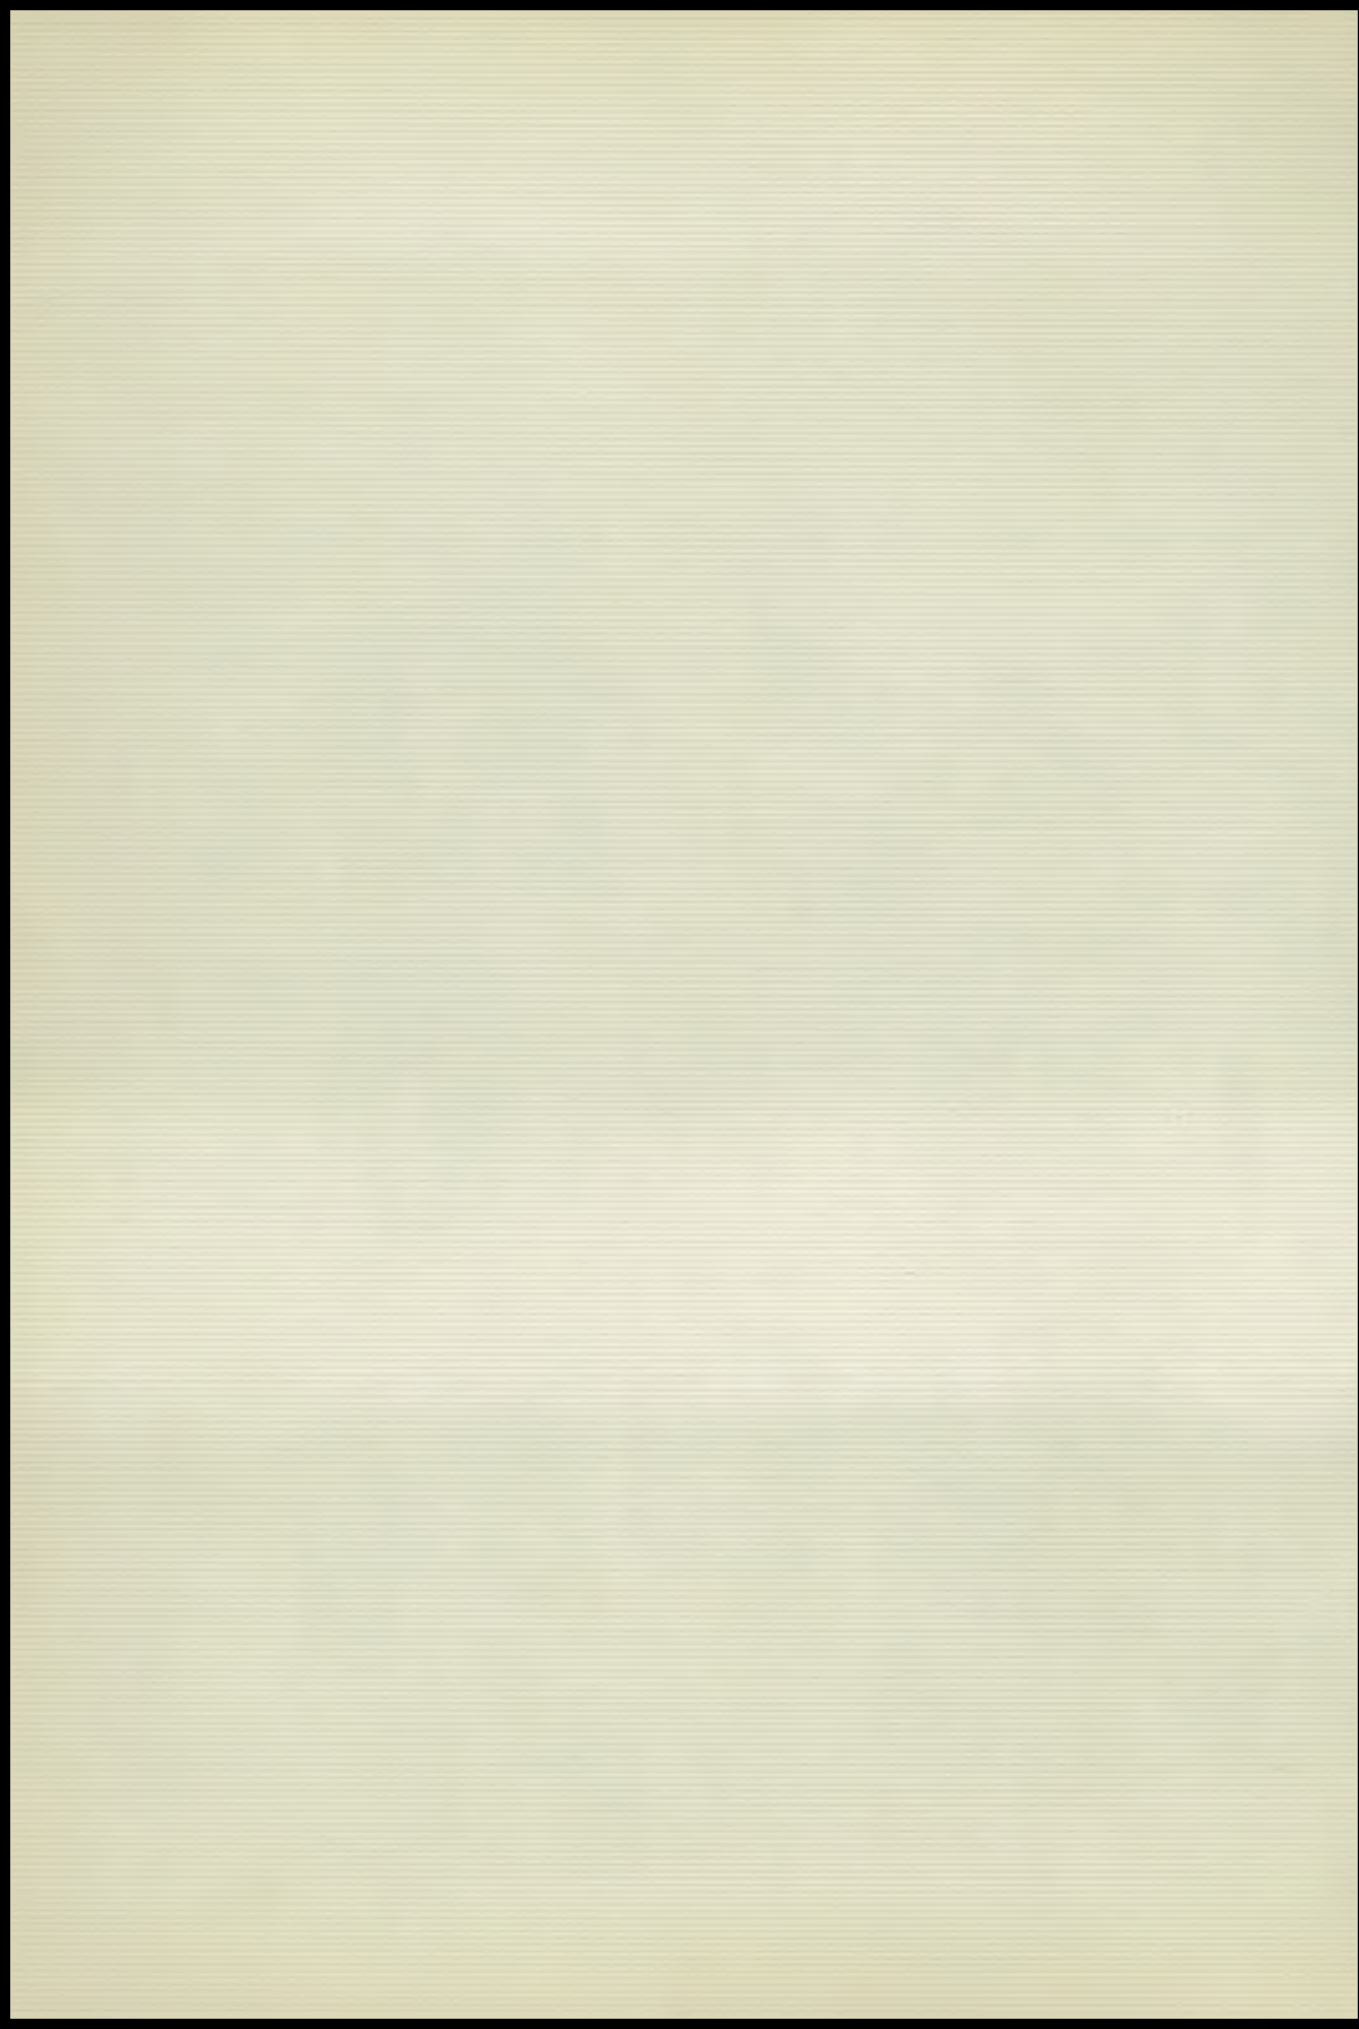

Alda Strieff gives Nancy Gilbert the permission to take out any Johnston boys including the plasterers.

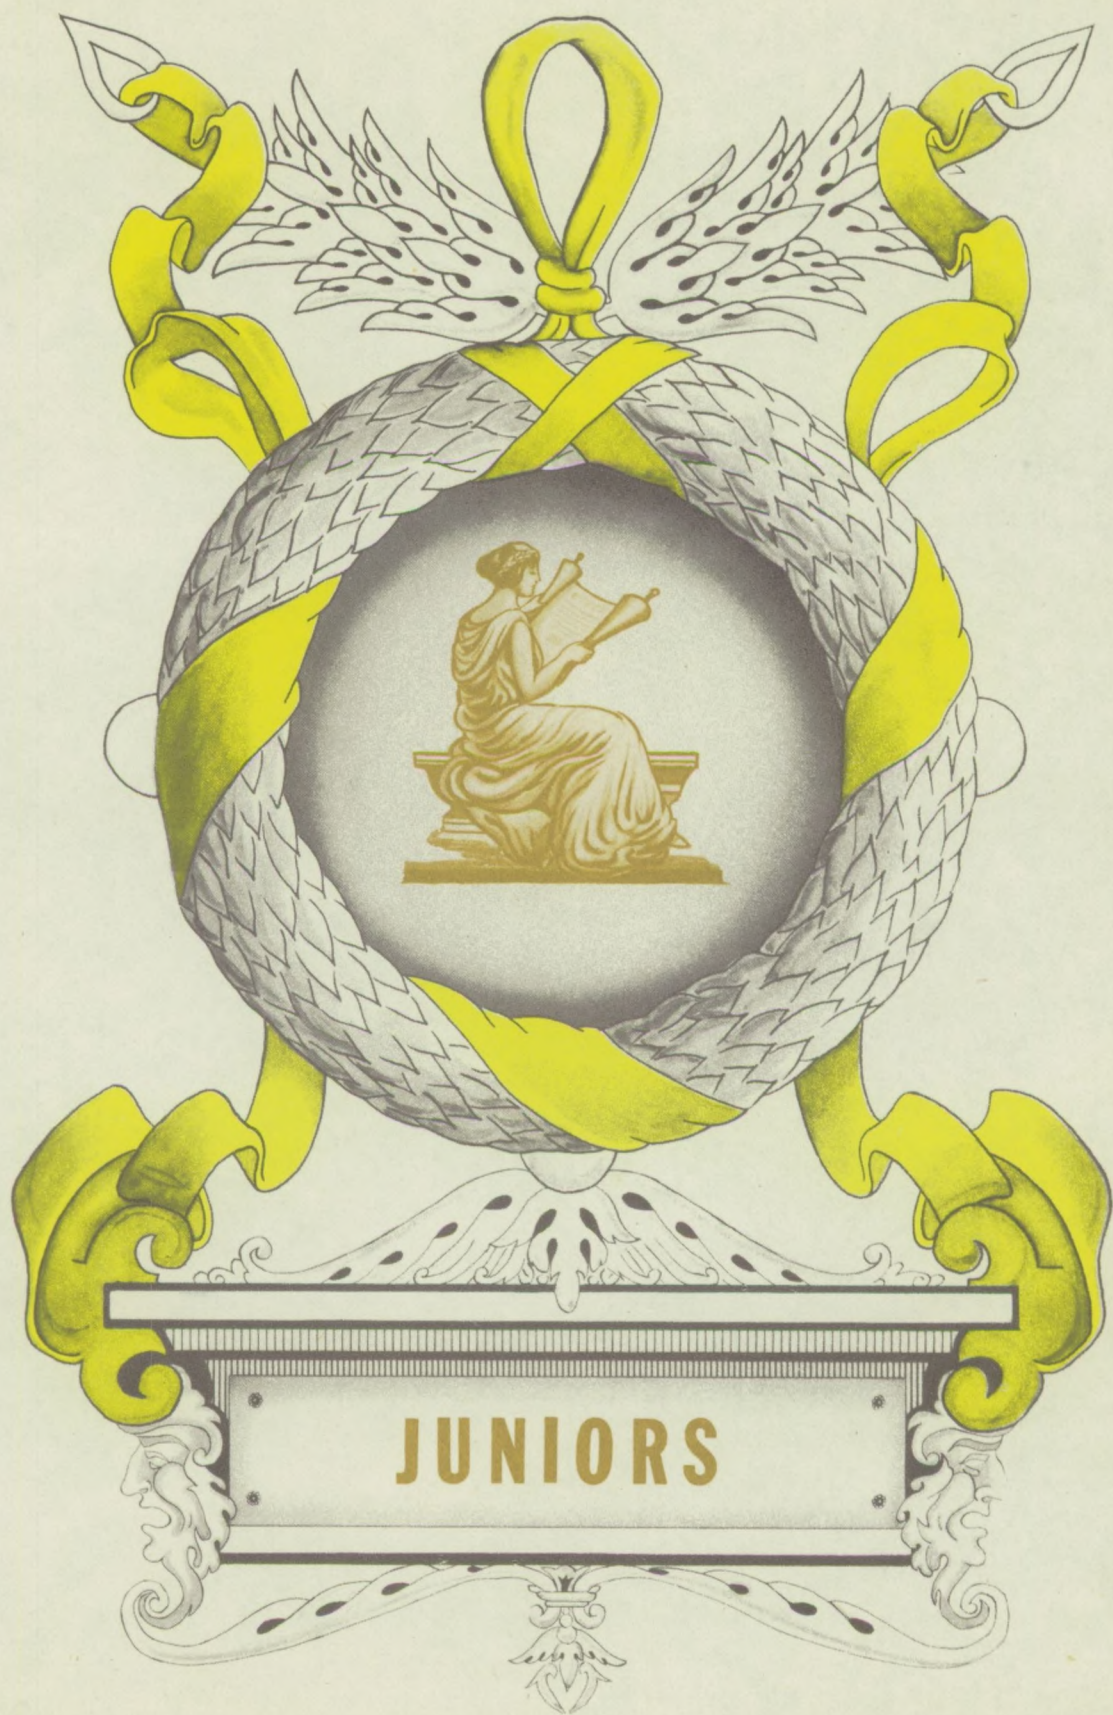

Walt Robinette, "the great lover," bestows his way with girls upon L. McKinley.

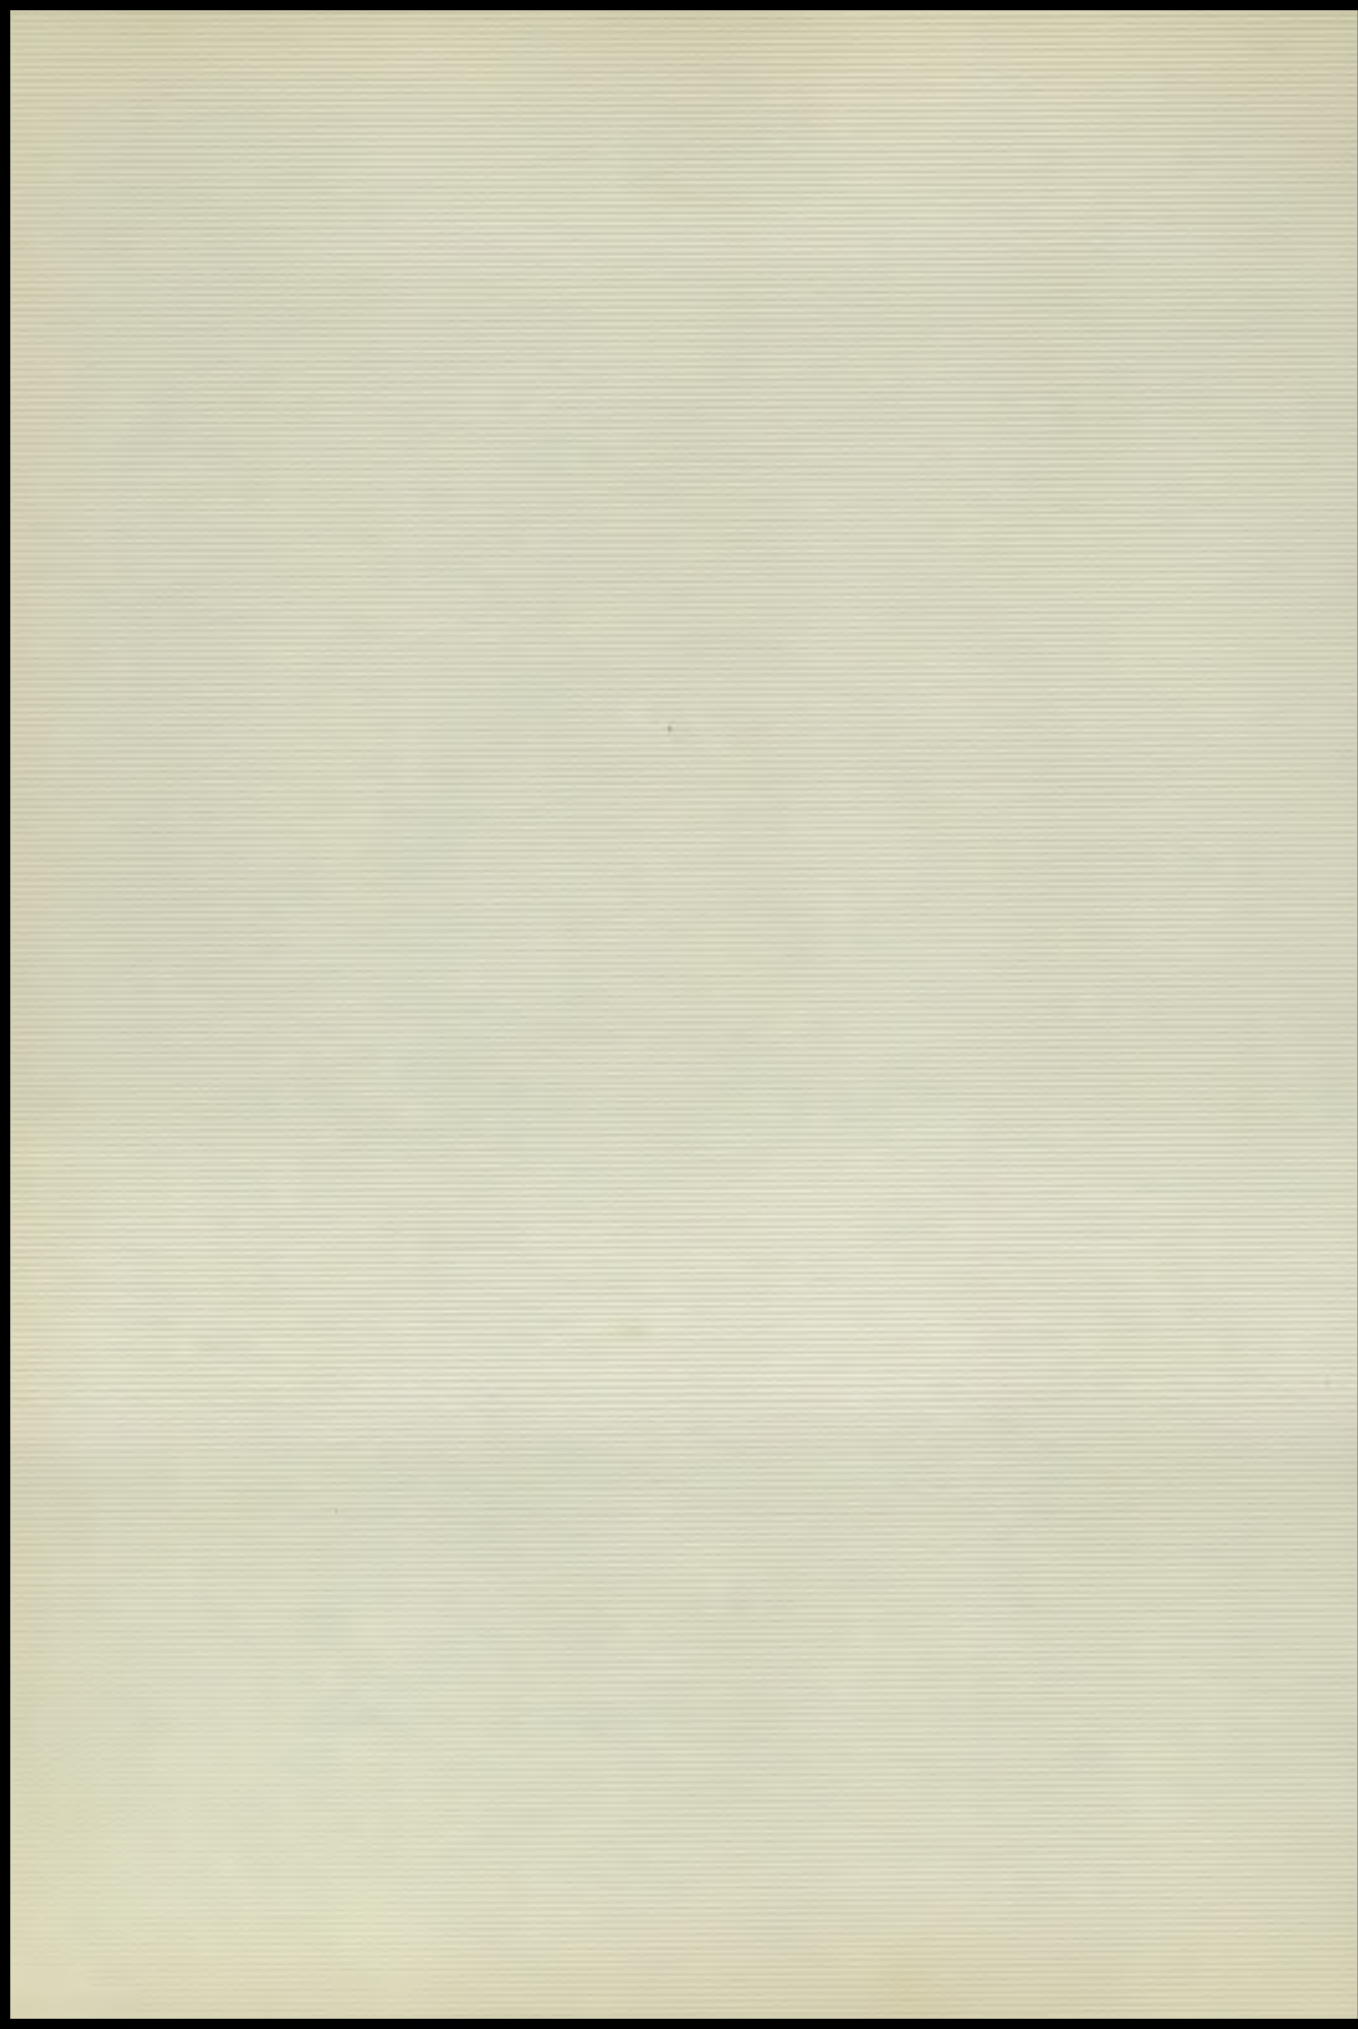

The typing class leaves all its gum to next year's typists. Don't look in the waste-baskets too long, kids!

Therefore, and in witness thereof, we, being of doubtful mind and unsound body, do seal this great will of the graduating class of 1951. Done this twenty-ninth day, in the year one thousand nine hundred fifty-one. in the city (?) of Johnston, County of Polk, State of Insanity.

Mrs. Ethel V. Ballou has, this year, completed her 30th year of service in the Johnston Consolidated School. In recognition of her fine work in the Junior High Department the P.-T.A. designated January 16, 1951, as Ballou Night and held a special program in her honor. She was presented with a purse, an atlas, and a Lady Elgin wrist watch and crowned "Queen for a Night."
